THE PROCEEDINGS BY TELE-GRAPH.

The House at Work Monday-No Heavy Legislation Yet-Blaine Bleats Badly-Withers, of Virginia, Speaks to the Point. Congress.

WASAINGTON, April 14.—House— Immediately after the reading of the Journal, the Speaker proceeded to call of the States for bills for reference. Beginning with the State of Maine. The first response was made by Ladd of Maine, who introduced a bill to put the coinage of gold and silver on some footing or point of order. Thereupon, raised by Conger, of Michigan, that the introduction of bills requires one day's notice, and that no such notice had been

The Speaker after quoting several rules bearing on the subject over ruled by a point of order, an appeal from a decision taken up by Conger, and a motion to lay the appeal on the table was made by Cox of New York. A question was then debated by Stephens, of Georgia, who expresse an opinion that the decision was clearly right, and that at all events the object of the bill could always be attained by presenting a petition on some subject. A course which he himself had pursued this morning in regard to all objects he desired to promote. Conger now began debating the ques tion, and thus indirectly attaining his Which is the consumption of the morning hour.

After brief argument by Reed, of Maine, in support of the point of order, and by Cox, of New York, against it, Conger called for tellers, on motion to lay it on the table.

Thereupon Springer of Ill. (remarking that he wished to expedite the dee sion of question) called for the yeas and navs which were ordered, and on which Conger's ludicrous comment was that he was glad to see that delay was being occasioned by action of the Democratic side of the House. The appeal was then laid on the table (yeas 139, nays 75), but the morning hour was used up in the objection, discussion and taking vote.

SENATE-After the usual morning business had resumed consideration on the army appropriation bill, Blaine proceeded to address the Senate.

SENATE.-Blaine opened the debate, he said: The Democrats instead of strik ing out the eight words that are offensive to them, viz: "Or to keep the Peace at the Polls,"repealed the whole section of which those words were a part, and then reenacted it, thinking to get credit for originating it, but this law was passed in time of the war and signed by Lincoln when he had a million of men under his control, and could have controlled the elections without any such aid. The purpose of the law was to inelections, and the Democrats now bare witness to its fitness for that purpose by trying to reenact it. He derided the idea of danger from military interference, and said there were only 2,797 soldiers east of Omaha, and only 1,155 in the southern states, about 70 to every million people. The demo-cratic ery of military despotism would injure standing of the country abroad, but a European would laugh at it if he knew that there was only one soldie to every seven hundred square miles of territory in the South. This was not the real issue. The ulterior purpose of the other side was to prevent the gen-eral Government from being represented by its civil officers at the elections in which it was specially interested, and over which the constitution gives full control. He would not profess to know what President would do when hese bills come to him, but it seemed to him that the dead heroes of the Union would rise from their graves if he should consent to be intimidated and outraged in his proper constitutional power by threats like these. The appropriate response from his lips would be, "Is thy servant a dog that he should do this thing?"

Withers, of Virginia, said Blaine's remarks would not produce much ef fect on either Senate or country. It was not a question to be decided whether there were soldiers enough to dominate and control elections, but whether under operation of existing laws it was not possible for the executive to distribute and use the soldiers so as to destroy freedom of elections. It was not to confront present danger but to remove from the present or any future President the temptation the extsting law would offer to destroy the liberties of the country and erect on ruins of the republic a despotism supported by arms. He argued that the presence of troops at the polls was incom-patible with free Government and was the principal on which the pending bill was based. The democrats did no propose to shape their course as to what nay or may not be the position of the

The debate was closed by Wallace of Pensylvania, who declared the single issue in this bill is: Shall the executive longer possess the power to place troops at the polls? Their presence is a menace upon the right of free elections. This right is fixed and certain. Its protec tion rests with the states, and the federal government has nothing to do with

Attempt Upon the Russian Emperor's

Life. Washington, April 14.—The Department of State to-day received a telegram from the United States charge d' amairs at St. Petersburg, Col. Wyckham Hoffman, announcing an attempt made on the Russian Emperor's life this morn-ing, while his majesty was walking near the Imperial Palace. The wouldbe-assassin discharged five shots at the Czar, but fortunately without effect, his majesty being untouched. The assassin has been arrested.

PARISIAN FASHIONS.

The Bonnets French Women are Wearing---Breton Lace in ondon Queen, In Paris we are still wearing felt bonnets and the charming colimacon bonnets I have frequently described. Very few new bonnets have as yet been worn. The colimacon capotes are made f narrow black lace, commencing in the centre of the crown, and turning round and round a hundred times, just like the rings on a snail's back; a tuft of spring flowers are fastened at the side. Mme. Caroline Reboux introduced this capote, which has been adopted by the most aristocratic heads in Paris, the bouquet being changed, to be in unison with the toilette. Some ladies ave taken to wearing natural flowers in their bonnets. Mme. Reboux is beginning to show black straw bonnets, and I remarked a few of these at the Auteuil races, where they were trim-med with plush; a large bow of cardinal plush at the top; plush strings; a fine gathering of plush inside the brim, and a row of narrow fine ecru lace edging it. Up to the present no white straws have been worn, but those in preparation are trimmed with watered and plush ribbons. The Galitzin is the newest bonnet that has yet appeared; it has a flat crown and somewhat high brim, like the Auvergnate, but with this difference, it is lowered somewha over one ear; on the left there are five ostrich tips, forming a very graceful tuft that falls over the back hair, while on the right side there is a plush bow. The marabout capotes are made of black net, the brim being embroidered with jet, while round the crown there are marabout feathers forming a sort o coronet; at the edge of the brim there are marabouts fixed with jet. This style of bonnet will be reproduced both in English and Italian straws, and with colored marabouts. Summer bonnets are to be trimmed with Japanese ribbons, delicately tint-ted and artistically designed, and with plaid ribbons made of thick soft silk, with a taft of flowers fastened at the back. The wreaths on the black straws have no leaves and are usually co posed of shaded roses, Parma violets. chrysanthemums and snowballs.

Among the new bonnet trimmings in patterns as galloon; and tinsel galloon; and tinsel galloons in colors dusted with silver or with gold. Bra-zilian beetles are mounted on brooches or in sprays with gift settings, to ornament the brocades of green-blue shades and also the white chip or braid bonnets. The white crystals are britliant in silver settings in buckles, brooches, crescents and bees. The jet ornaments for black lace bonnets are extremely handsome and will be large ly used again. For the inside of a close cottage-shaped black lace bonnet is a row of graduated jet balls, growing larger toward the middle, that would answer very well for a necklace, ye makes a very pretty coronet. To bind the edge of other brims are black net galloons embroidered with jet beads while for the outside of the crown are butterflies of jet, crescents, leaves and

Black net bonnets are trimmed with je ornaments, jet feathers and black Bre ton lace; the material of the bonnet is Brussels net of very small meshes vithout dots laid smoothly over the frame. When colors are used in then they are the new tea shades, old-gold embroidery, white, or Prince of Wales red. For black chip bonnets a pretty medel from Tuvee's has the brim lined with black satin, on which is laid quite smoothly black lace, embroidered with old-gold silk to represent leaves. Out side are folds of black satin laid care essly around the left side of the crown while at the top of the right is a group of four very small black tips, from which hangs a long black plume down

The combination of colors most n millinery is that of dark red with cream color; this arrangement is popular both for blondes and brunets. The pale Sevres blue is used with tea color, and to these is sometimes added Jacqueminot red in the way of roses or ouds not quite blown. The gendarme blue looks well with both red and crean color. The favorite cap for morning wear is the oriental turban, made of silk handkerchief to match either the peignoir or costume. Algerian scarfs also make up in very picturesque caps

Atlanta Constitution.

Its a hopeful season of a hopeful year Everybody seems to be feeling good and trying to do something. The farmers are wide awake planting corn, clearing off the new ground, burning brush, hauling guanna, and putting in a little more cotton than usual. You see the lower the price the more they must raise to bring enough money to pay for the guanna. The doctors are holding conventions to raise their mileage and determine whether the widow, or the coffin man, or themselves, is entitled to the first money after a poor man dies. The law is unsettled on this pinte; but they can control it, for if they are to be cut out they wont let him die at all. The lawyers are going to memorialize the legislature, because when a man employs em to git him a homestead, and gives his note for the fee he pleads the homestead agin the note when they sue him on it, and they never git any fee at all. The railroad men are holding conventions to fix their freight so as to build up the big cities and dry up the little ones. I had box of oranges sent me from Florida the other day for two dollars freight. which I dont grumble at, but find I could have had em shipped clean through to Rome for 75 cents and prought back to Cartersville for a quarter, and save a whole dollar by it. They say its cheaper to run by a little town than to stop at it, for the friction on the breaks is mighty expensive. The teachers are holding conventions to discuss whether its best to put boys upon their honor and let em do as they please or lick em first and appeal to to their honor afterwards as a side show. Its a contest between Beman and anti-Beman-the tight and the loose systems of instillin larnin. In my opinion narry one of em is going to make a good scholar out of a hostile subject. Judge Wright says he went to a Beman school for ten years and never found him. He was afeared to look back. He favors the Beman system for other people's children and other people favor it or hisen. And the editors are to have a convention. They are coming right here in Bartow, the centre of old Cherokee, the focus of space—a county whose lands are taxed higher per acre than any county in the state—the heaquarters of imaginary independencewhose farmers have got as fat and sassy as stail-fed cattle and won't mix with the common herd, They've had their so long they don't believe there's any other way, any other man that's fit-

I'm glad you are coming up, for it's time our people found out there are some other people with a head on. Willingham must be talked to by the pa-triarchs. He reminds one of the fellow who went to camp-meeting at Fairmount and was standin off by a tree when a preacher came up and axed him if he didn't want to get religion, and he looked sorter astonished and said: "Youre mistaken in the man, I reckon, I live down in Bartow." I wish you would tell Willinghham that last fall's race is over, and his man was elected, so that he can now turn his attention to some fresher subjects. There's a powe of good in him yet, but you can't get it out by cussin at him. If a brother be overtaken in a fault, entreat him: toll him along gently; show him a bundle Editors are just human, like all the balance of us. They will get stubborn sometimes, and the more you punch em the further they go in their hole. Then theres that Okalona man! ought to be put up and stabled for the next war. Why, he's the slowest critter on emotions I ever heard of. Its taken him just 14 years to git mad enough to fight. How we are all doing our best to make peace and restore the union and have a love-feast, and this Oakalona editor is just beginning to git mad. Why, he writes like he would siz if you was to throw water on him. There are some folks who are always ahead of the music, and then there are some who keep a mile or two behind it. He reminds me of a feller I saw a barbecu last summer. Two fellers had got into a fight, and they fit and fout and fout till one of em hollowed enuf, and the crowd enjoyed it ama-zingly. Some three or four hours af-terwards a feller stripped off his coat and rolled up his sleeves and tied his galluses around him, and went about erying like a school boy and whining out: "Whar's the man what shoved my cousin back?" I just want to find the man who kept my Cousin Joe from seein the fight'—and he popped his fist in his hand and the tears of anger and indignation was just a rollin down his cheeks. "Whar's the man that shoved my cousin back?" Well, the man had gone home and he knowd it. But another big strappin feller jumped in front of him with a whoop like an injun and, throwing off his coat, shrieked out, "Im the man that shoved your cousin back. Im the individual you are looking for. Im the buil of the woods. Im the best man that ever snapped a jawbone. Bring on your cousin, my friend. I never fight less than two at a time.' The cryin feller and his cousin were seen in about two minutes gallopin down the road on a little grizzly gray

I never hear from Oakalona that I dont unconsciously exclaim-"Whars the man that shoved my consin back.' BILL ARP.

TWO HEROES

Who Carried the British Colors Through the Zulu Army at the Cost of their Lives.

Unhappily the Victoria Cross canno be given to dead heroes or their families, else many other less fortunate men who fought the subjects of Ceteway would have had it laid upon their tomb There, for instance, was Capt. Stewart Smith, who, mortally wounded, spiked the guns he could no longer defend. When all was lost, Lieuts. Melville and Coghill were given the regimental colors to save, and cutting their way with desperate energy, the colors folded round Nelville's neart, they pierced the Zulu ranks. The feat was not accomplished without effort, and an officer who managed to escape reports that he saw Cognill slashing right and left in spite of a severe wound. But the friends stuck to the saddle and reached the camp at Rorke's Drift to find it surrounded by the Zulus. It would have Catawba.

There is every prospect of a large increase of attendance. Ladies from Alabama and question and in fact for several days preattendance. Ladies from Alabama and Mississippi have written to make inquiries concerning the School, and the surroundings. Considered merely as a delightful health-giving, and inspiring way of spending six weeks of the hot weather; the State Normal School offers attractions that can be equalled nowhere in the State. For beanty of location, purity of air, cheap-ness of living, informality and kindliness of manners and customs, and the general gaiety and zest of life that comes of good work well-performed, in good company and with good results, actual and prospective, the Chap-el Hill Normal School has no rival. A month at the Warm Springs is nothing to it. The entire expense of the six weeks here would not pay one month's board at a watering place; while here is neither fashion, nor dissipation, nor expensive necessaries of any description. The whole six weeks is one of gain morally, mentally, physcally and socially.

A Disgrace to the City.

Correspondence of the News. The plan of allowing cattle the free lom of the streets of Raleigh is a disgrace to its city and its people, alike. No other place which makes the barest pretence of being a city would such a thing be allowed, and public opinion or good sense should rebel against it here. Each day the Capitol square or ornamental yards and gardens are invaded by vagrant cattle, who trample or eal anything they come across. Now do the authorities suppose that this sort of thing is to be submitted to quietly. Far, from it, it is hoped. If steps are not taken by the authorities to put a stop to the nuisance, it is suggested that the shot gun be introduced and the animals treated to a liberal dose of its contents. If kind words will do no good, (as has been the case) why try other methods to redress the grievance grateful affection for their former slaves, by reason of the fidelity of the property interests and the women and children of the South while their masters were with the army. It should have been the policy of a wise Adminstration to nurture this feeling, that the welfare of the whole country might thereby have been made paramount to the success of a party. This was not done. On the contrary, the carpetbag-gers left nothing undone that was cal-

FAITHFUL UNTO DEATH. Wife Fulfilling Her Marriage Vow Even to the Trap of the Gallows.

A touching story is narrated in connection with the execution of Walter Watson, at Highland, Indiana, on Friday last for the murder of Ezra Compton. THE DEMONDOR DESTRUCTION IN UNION COUNTY.

The Old Man's Presentiments--- His Fear of Being a Burden-Au Opportunity is Presented--The Borrowed Knife-The Old, Old Story.

After going to press on last Satarday, we had some meagre reports to the effect than one Mr. James Edwards

For some time his family suspected that he would attempt to take his life and vious he seemed much better and at the time the deed was done he had gone out to the barn-yard to fix a plow for a boy to go to plowing and while there called on a grandson for a pocket knife to cut a leather tap, but being there almost alone he seized an opportunity to carry into effect his long cherished purpose and began making efforts to cut his throat. The knife being quite dull, he did not succeed in cutting into the lar-ger veins, but did almost, if not entirely sever the wind pipe and swallow. His grandson at once gave the alarm and his wife and daughter-in-law came out White (Pa.) but they could do nothing to prevent his efforts, as he threatened to kill them if not let alone and by the time his son Hawk got there (who was the only person on the place who could manage him) he had injured himself to the extent as Brown above stated. He expressed no regret at what he had done and refused at first Carpenter to let the physician, Dr. J. L. Bost dress the wound but continued to tear t open with his fingers that it might bleed more rapidly, so determined was he to end his life. However, it was known that he could not then be saved, as his injuries were beyond the reach of surgical skill, and he was allowed to peaceably depart. He died in six or eight hour after inflicting the wounds.

LAST OF THE DOG SHOW THE KENNEL CLUB'S EXHIBITION VISITED BY THOUSANDS TENTERDAY.

The Show a Most Gratifying Succe in Spite of the Wretched Weather-The Exhibitors, as a liule, Pleased With the Awards.

New York Star, April 12.

The dog show at Gilmore's Garden was closed at 10 o'clock last night. The owners of a few of the animals took their pets out of their cages and carried them away, but the multitude showed no hasty inclination to quit the Garden. At 10:30 o'clock there was no perceptible diminution in the unusually large crowd of visitors, and it was 11 o'clock before they all streamed out, and the gas in the great arches of colored globes was turned off.

The attendance yesterday morning was turned off.

The attendance yesterday morning was larger than on Thursday, and the audience last night was probably the largest of the exhibition. The aimosphere in the forenoon was damp, and did not much improve in the later hours of the day. The house-dogs shivered in their cages, and dogs with thin and tender skins burrowed in the straw or were wrapped in blankets. straw or were wrapped in blankets. The expression on the countenances of some of the bull-terriers and other some of the bull-terriers and other short-nosed animals was of extreme disgust, and they manifested the feeling by very earnest and loud vociferations. The grey hounds, generally the quietest of all, were more dumb and pathetic than usual, but the toy-dogs, the hairless and the woolly, did not let the chorus grow weak at any time.

Many of the St. Bernards, New found.

Many of the St. Bernards, Newfoundlands, mastiffs and bounds have suffered considerably because of the smallness of their cages, and some of their owners complained that the managers of the exhibition should have provided larger kennels. The managers say that the number of entries was far beyond their expectations—there were over one thousand—and the space for the kennels had to be used to the best ad vantage. Better things are promise

The list of awards was finished by the judges on Thursday evening, yet there were a few animals on the plat-form last night. Many owners of dogs wished to remove them yesterday morning, but this was not allowable under the rules. Several protests against awards were lodged with the Committee on Protests, and a hearing was given them in the forenoon. Altogether there were about thirty protests in the three days of the exhibition. No awards were set aside because of these protests, although in some cases considerable feeling was exhibited by unsuccessful exhibitors. The decision of the judges was irrevocable unless fraud or manifest favoritism could be shown.

Mr. Lincoln, the Superintendent, said last night, that all differences had been amicably adjusted, and that the exhibition had ended in the most satisfactory and encouraging way. The managers were highly pleased at the result, and grow in extent and importance. He was not able to estimate the total receipts, but he had no doubt that after the prizes and other expenses were paid there would be a balance of probably $700 or $800 to the credit of the Kennel Club. Although no financial statement has yet been made, it was thought about $2,000 had beed paid out for prizes. Had the weather been favorable the receipts, it is claimed, would have been probably 40 per cent. larger. These facts encourage the club to continue in its efforts. All the cash prizes were paid in gold in the afternoon and evening, as fast as the fortunate exhibitors could reach the platform, and the diplomas were given out at the same time. By 9 o'clock the prizes were paid and a large num-ber of the diplomas filled out and de-livered. Many heedless exhibitors fail-ed to res pond to the ringing of the bell which announced, at regular intervals, the disposal of the various classes, and then ran about more or less excited. inquiring of committemen why their demands were not attended to. Their own carelessness will necessitate the seeking of the judges to-day, or some-

At 8 o'clock there was a parade in the wing at the west end of the Garden, of the prize dogs. The inclosure is laid three inches in sawdust, and as some of the little dogs were carried or led in The "confederate brigadiers" have they sank helpiessly into the track, and the big hounds, mastiffs and bulls tramconsiderable majority, but less than generally supposed. There is a smart sprinkling of "brigadiers" on the other side. It is the senate, and not the house, that has the overwhelming confederate pled over them. This of course amused the pushing multitude around the ring, but did not elate the owners of the canine mites. The animals were all glad to get out of their kennels, and they frisked over the sawdust with all the agility and more than the eagerness of circus tumblers. After their frolic they were taken back to their cages, and they resumed their part of the grand chorus which the others had in the meantime kept up to a deafening height. As the hour of 10 approached, inquiries were made of committeemen as to when the dogs should be taken away. It had been announced that the taken home last night would be as corefully guarded as they were on the days of the exhibition, and owners could return for them to-day. Of

A party of gentlemen from Enfield, through their representative, Mr. Reid, was here this week looking after the Warrenton railroad. They say there was a strong probability of extending it on by Ransom's Bridge to Rocky Mount, and that there were capitalists anxious to take hold of the enterprise. After a meeting of the directors and stockholders, Mr. Reid was informed that any proposition his company might make would be gladly received. Mr. Reid left Wednesday for Enfield to confer with his friends, and it is expected that proposals will be made within the next ten days. Oxford has subscribed thirty thousand dollars for the road to Henderson, and will pay every dollar of it. It is a reflection upon the enter-prise and public spirit of the business men of Warrenton that they cannot raise four or five thousand dollars to complete our road. We are badly in need of something to revive our energies and trade, and if we do not soon nake an intelligent and united it may be too late.

NORTH CAROLINA IN THE WAR

linians did in the gigantic and bloody four years struggle, makes a story whose pages shine bright with fair fame and glorious deed. But most of honor, forbearance, virtue fortitude and heroism have no place but in the remembrance of those who bore her banners, or else, at home, sustained the cause so weil and truly loved. There has been so little of the history of her part and portion in that great coffict committed to paper that in the minds of the rising generation there is but small knowledge of the valor ef their sires. It is sad that brave deeds should for want of such be suffered to fade into oblivion and passing into the limbo of the unknow lie there for all time. It is due these courageous hearts who so well and bravely fought to keep the memory of their daring and devotion ever fresh in the memory, and it is proper to use all means to perpetuate the story of these deeds that all who, following us, bear the name of North Carolinians can turn with truest pride to their State's history in the Great Civil War. The record should be full and accurate, and should narrate the thousand incidents which go to make up camp life, the departure of the troops for the field; the battle fields, and the instances of daring, which made our troops so pre-eminently glorious.

These ideas are evolved on reading a call for a convention of North Carolina soldiers to be held at Chapel Hill, on Wednesday, June 4th, next. The aim of this proposed meeting is stated in the call to obtain material for such a history. The call is made by Col. John R Winston, of Milton, a gallant officer, who fought through the long four years, and is known all over the State as a gallant soldier and an ardent lover of the glory and honor of North Carolina. In his call he says: "I desire to secure material for the history of North Carolina in the late war, such as will show the nature of that struggle, hardships patrotism, &c. Official reports, rosters muster rolls. &c., are essential to this end. But these no more make up the complete picture than does the rough draft of the lineaments of the human physiogomy make a face, without putting on also the delicate flesh tints. I have been and am still collecting meterial for my work as I can. But without organized co-operation it is slow an unsatisfactory.

"As far as possible every brigade, lect and put into the hands of him who request them to select some one to write their history, having previously sirous for resumption of fraternal relaresigned my own intentions into their tions with the North than the South. hands, if you and others think this But how can she be otherwise than would be proper.

"Official reports, muster rolls and field returns, which can be gathered from these sources, are essential in learning the strength of our armies and the mortality of our troops, but they alone can never convey to posterity the living picture of those four years of suffering. I have been doing, and am still willing to do, all in my power to this end. But this work cannot be satisfactorily done by individual effort.

"Every village and township should have a list of its boys who marched came back."

Too much cannot be said in urgent likeness of North Carolina as she appeared during the four years civil one; to let each company, regiment, and brigade furnish its own material' its own history. The time and already our memory of names and events is less clear and accurate. We second the call far a Convention at Chapel Hill, and request our exchanges to copy and endorse it. Would it not be well if something were done in this way at the Commencement gatherings of each of the denominatonal colleges of the State, as well. Davidson, Wake Forest, and Trinity will each call many men together who cannot be present at the State University, but who would doubtless gladly co-operate in s work so pious and patriotic.

WITCHCRAFT, although regarded by most people as something akin to a lost art, actually lives still and may be said almost to flourish. Only a few weeks ago a witch was burned in Russia, and now we have a case of witchcraft in laborer's cottage, and have taken the form of moving furniture and flying household utensils. A tin saucepan has taken flight from the hob, flown through a window and, after wheeling about in the air for some time "like a swallow," has returned to the fireside; a basketful of mangel-wurzel has raised itself from the floor to the ceiling, a can full of water has walked up stairs-and so forth and so on. Crowds have gathered to witness these wonders, on a single Sunday upwards of fifteen hundred people coming by rail from Sheffield, Doneaster and other neighboring towns. The "squire" and the "rector," being well convinced that the witch is a mischievous grandchild of the cottager, have labored to impress upon the simple, superstitious folk the folly of the witchcraft theory; but they labored in vain. The Wesleyan minister has gone so far as to condemn as "atheists" all unbelievers in the spiritual character of the manifest: tions; has urged that "the finger of God" is plainly stretched forth, and has followed its pointings by mstituting a series of revival meetings in the bewitched cottage. It is the great earn- leans, has been reorganized, to put "our estness manifested by the believers old commande"through that renders the affair especially rethe white House. Invitations have been markable; and it is a most noticeable sent to such Republicans of Louisiana fact—though somewhat opposed to the as have escaped the deadly influence of $15.000 FOR $1 teachings of the Welevan-divine-that Hayes' policy, to join the band, and in very many of those who have come to a few weeks things will begin to boom. the cottage have been observed upon It is to be feared, however, that some of approaching it to make the phalic the facilities for making the Grant movesign: that simple formula against "fascination" or the "evil eye" that may the traced backward until lost in a very remote antiquity. This Lincolnshire witchcraft case certainly shows with surprising clearness how tenacious of existence though are the ancient superstitions of the human race; how, veneered with civilization and Christianity, the old Pagan beliefs and customs of barbarious times still retain a vigorous hold upon the minds of men.

THE Louisville Courier-Journal re views the situation in its usually masterly way. It takes a sensible view of the matter and gives the South its dues. "The Democratic party fourteen years ago was a minority so small in the Congress of the United States that it was incapable of resisting the many outrages the majority was inflicting on the Constitution. There were only thirty-four Democrats in the House, and seven or eight in the Senate. The great Mogul of the Radicals, was Thaddeus Stevens of Pennsylvania, who boldly declared that he and his party were legislating outside of constitutional limits. and he who asserted to the contrary was either a knave or a fool. It was only necessary for him to crack his whip and every Radical sprang to his feet and into line. There was no toleration for individual opinion. To kick out of the party traces was so hazardous that no one dared to perform the feat. King Cancus blocked out all political legislation, and the measure was often forced through the House without discussion. In this way many laws were enacted which are disgraceful to a free country. When it was necessary to hitch on their caucus offspring to an appropriation bill they never failed to do it. The very law authorizing the appointment of Supervisors and Marshals to control elections was attached to the sundry civil service bill. Not a voice was then raised in the Radical ranks against this legislative mode of procedure. All was then lovely, all was patriotic, all was exactly as it should be. It can not be successfully denied that such was the act o i of these self-styled loyalists for eight long years, or until the people rose in their majesty and hurled them into a minority. It was Madame Roland who exclaimed on the scaffold "Oh! Liberty, how many crimes have, been perpetrated in thy name." This sentiment, since the close of the late war, might have been fitly paraphrased: 'Oh! Loyality, how many political outrages have been perpetrated in thy name." Now that the Democrats have a majority in both branches of our National Legislature, the old cry of "rebel" regiment and company and battalion is poured out of every Radical mouth. should be represented. THE Georgians are moving in various directions to put down the practice of carrying concealed weapons. At Atlanta several persons. including two women, have been indicted for the practice. A demand is to be made upon the legislature at the summer session to prohibit the bringing of pistols into the state and their sale there, and it is stated that the old law of the state forbidding the carrying of concealed England that has set half the county of Weapons, and which has been a dead Lincoln by the ears. Ayer's Hair Vigor which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair thecked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous, and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a

WORM SPECIFIC VERMIFUGE.

SYMPTOMS OF WORMS.

THE countenance is pale and lead. en-colored, with occasional flushes or a circumscribed spot on one or both cheeks; the eyes become dull; the pupils dilate; an azure semicircle runs along the lower eye-lid; the nose is irritated, swells, and sometimes bleeds; a swelling of the upper lip; occasional headache; with humming or throbbing of the cars; an unusual secretion of saliva; slimy or furred tongue; breath very foul, particularly in the morning; appetite variable, sometimes voracious, with a gnawing sensation of the stomach, at others, entirely gone; fleeting pains in the stomach; occasional nausea and vomiting; violent pains throughout the abdomen; bowels irregular, at times costive; stools slimy, not unfrequently tinged with blood; belly swollen and hard; urine turbid; respiration occasionally difficult, and accompanied by hiccough; cough sometimes dry and convulsive; uneasy and disturbed sleep, with grinding of the teeth; temper variable, but generally irritable, &c.

will certainly effect a cure. IT DOES NOT CONTAIN MERCURY in any form; it is an innocent preparation, not capable of doing the slightest injury to the most tender infant. The genuine DR. McLane's VER-MIFUGE bears the signatures of C.

Our country is getting to be fearfully alarming, the average of life being lessened every year, without any reasonable cause, death resulting generally from the most insignficant organ. At this season of the year especially, a cold is such a common thing that in the hurry of every day life we are apt to overlook the dangers attending it and often look the dangers attending it and often find too late that a fever or lung trouble has already set in. Thousands lose their lives in this way every winter, while had Boschee's German Syrup been taken, a cure would have resulted, and a large bill from a doctor been avoided. For all diseases of the throat and lungs, Boschee's German Syrup has proved itself to be the greatest discovery of its kind in medicine. Every Druggist in this country will tell you of its wonderful effect. Over 950,000 bottles sold last year without a single failure known.

A Remedy that has been Reme

The invincible repugnance felt by almost evary one to the single and flavor of cod live. Oil, has prevented tens of thousands of the victims of debility, from reaping the beneats of its peculiar nearing and nutritive properties. The almost nopeless consumption, the martyr to kneumatism, the barely hying snadew of men, women and children that energy from the cluttenes of matarial feles, an of these know, or at least their dictors know, that of all discovered remedies, this Oil is the best and often the only one that will build up their wasted bodies, and and responsible in the action of it, with the H popts shites of them and Sida. In is the aness and work natural food and modicine in the world, and wholly deprived on its disagreeable qualities. Sold by Wm, Simpson, Druggist.

This important organ weighs but about three pounds, and all the blood in a living person about three gallons) passes through it at least once every half hour, to have the bile and other impurities strained or filtered from it. Bile is the natural purgative of the bowels, and if the Liver becomes torpid it is not separated from the blood, but carried through the veins to all parts of the system, and in trying to escape through the pores of the skin, causes it to turn yellow or a dirty brown color. The stomach becomes diseaved, and Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Constipation, Headache, Biliousness, Jaundice, Chills, Malarial Fevers, Piles, Sick and Sour Stomach, and general debility follow. Merrell's Heratine, the great vegetable discovery for torpidity, causes the Liver to throw off from one to wo ounces of bile end time the blood passes through it, as long as mere is an excess of bile; and the effect of even a few doses upon yellow complexion or a brown dirty looking skin, will astonish all who try it—they being the first symptoms to disappear. The curre of all bilious diseases and Liver complaint is made certain by taking Heratine in accordance with directions. Headache is generally curred in twenty minutes, and no disease that arises from the Liver can exist if a fair trial is given.

Mr. Jacob S. Allen has a force of fifteen workmen on the new college building at Wake Forest, who are now putting on the finishing touches. This work has been done at the expense of Col. J. M. Heck and the late John G. Williams, and when completed will be a very ornamental as well as useful addition to this most excellent institution of learning. It is contemplated to erect : corresponding building on the opposite side of the main building, and it is probable the work will be given out to contract at an early day. These additions to the college will make it one of the most extensive seats of learning in the country.

The Catholic Fair.

Despite the inclement weather the Fair opened under promising auspices. The hall presented an attractive and entertaining appearance. The Raleigh Light Infantry Brass Band and the Italian String Band rendered the music of the occasion, and all present enjoyed themselves. The tables presided over by Mrs. John O'Neil, Miss Lanahan, Mrs. Pendergast, Miss Ferrell, Miss Legah, Misses Charity Manly, Katie Ragan, Annie Tyghe, are all well filled with fancy needle work and ornamental work of every kind, and present a beautiful sight. Mrs. Hayes, Mrs. Manly and Mrs. Barbee are in charge of the supper table, and is well supplied with every thing good to eat; this table will be open for lunch every day during the Fair from 11 till 2 venience of all who may want a hearty meal. Bright faces of the fair sex is seen in every part of the hall soliciting votes on the Fireman's Trumpet which is a twenty-two inch double plat-ed siver Trumpet, extra heavily chased with gold lined mouth piece and bell. The Trumpet is from the house of Anderson & Jones, New York, and is just what it is represented. The New Home, Wheeler & Wilson and the Singer Sewing machines are exhibited, competing for the gold medal. Several magnificent pictures, birds and cages, a silver watch are among the articles to be raffled for, also there will be raffled three sewing machines, of which more will be said hereafter. TUESDAY - - APRIL 15, 1879 SAD FATE OF ALVIN SMITH, OF

He Suffered Terribly-Would Lot All Control of Himself--The Fell Stroke Thursday Night -A Monning Man in the Dead of Night-A FeebleVoice-A Human Body--As Cold as Ice---The Seal of Death.

"In my father's house are many man sions." The particulars of the sad case of one Alvin Smith, a colored man of this city, was on yeste rday gathered by ieft, while a small boy, at his father's death, in charge of Ann Smith, his sister, who was eight years older than him. He grew up in Raleigh and was a boy of good reputation. When at the age of sixteen, Mr. Henry Brown, the wellknown undertaker, took him in his fac-tory to learn the trade. Smith was a bright boy, he made rapid progress and soon became Mr. Brown's best workman.
"He was not like other niggers," said Mr. Brown, "he seemed to have more sense than his race; he was like a white man." Smith steadily pursued his labors in Mr. Brown's shop for 31 years, and succeeded in earning a reputation in this city for HIS UPRIGHT BEARING with all who had dealings with him. He was what the darkies call a "high tone nigga." He was a great favorite of Mr. Brown's, who took a great interest in him and never lost an opportunity to befriend him. "We never saw a ne-gro like him," said Mr. John Brown, "he begun work with father before I was born, and he helped raise me; he took just the same care of me that a blow on the old man, the thought everyhing of Smith." It appears that Smith was subject to occasional spells of headache, which, though not frequent, were very severe; it was not thought that they were se-rious, and not until last fail did he give himself any concern about the matter. These attacks began to come more freuently and more awful to bear. "Som imes they would wilt him down, LIKE A LEAF IN THE HOT SUN," s Ann Smith said. Ann Smith is a very worthy member of Dr. Atkinson's church and a colored woman of many good qualities. She is much above the ordinary darkey. Both she and "Coz," as she called Smith, stand high, both among the white folks as well as the colored people.

Smith was devoted to his trade and would often work late at night; this was bad for him, and his attacks of sick or nervous headache during the past three months had become very frequent and almost unendurable. He evidently was in a dangerous way, but still he worked on. Time had set its seal on was moving on its victim. On Thursday las', Smith, was quietly working in the shop with Mr. Caige, Mr. Brown's journeyman. It was after the hour of six in the evening, and Smith, after talking awhile, went to Mr John Brown's, a short space from the work shop and on leaving re-marked, "I'll be back soon and we'll take a smoke together." He went to Mr. Brown's house as was his costom, Jno. Brown to get the marketing for next day.

Mr. Caige got his supper and returned to the shop. He occupied himself in draughting a while and joined by Mr. Jewett Cosby, who called to talk with him. In the meantime

HE WAS AS COLD AS ICE.

The dying man lingered insensible all day Friday. His sister Ann was by his side and, on Saturday, she noticed signs of consciousness returning. She spoke to him. "Coz, I am so sorry I wasn't with you in your distress in the night." "Oh! a few more with me and all is over. In my fathers house are many mansions, if it were not so I would have told you," was the almost inarticulate reply, and he sank into unconsciousness again. He recognized Mr. Porter at one time and shook his hand; he also knew Mrs. Jesse Brown and shook her hand; but the only words he uttered were those to his sister. He lay in a state of coma all Sunday and up to twenty minutes of two o'clock, p. m. yesterday. Mr. Henry Brown takes his death very hard. He has fitted up the finest coffin ever in this city, for his burial. It is a glass casket, with elaborate gold and silver mountings, and cost $300. THE CENUINE DR. C. McLANE'S

DYS' APSIA AND SICK MEADACHS

Symptoms of a Diseased Liver. DAIN in the right side, under the edge of the ribs, increases on pres-sure; sometimes the pain is in the left side; the patient is rarely able to lie on the left side; sometimes the pain is felt under the shoulder blade, and it frequently extends to the top of the shoulder, and is sometimes mistaken for rheumatism in the arm. The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness; the bowels in general are costive, sometimes alternative with lax; the head is troubled with pain, accompanied with a dull, heavy sensation in the back part. There is generally a considerable loss of memory, accompanied with a painful sensation of having left undone something which ought to have been done. A slight, dry cough is sometimes an attendant. The patient complains of weariness and debility; he is easily startled, his feet are cold or burning, and he complains of a prickly sensation of the skin; his spirits are low; and although he is satisfied that exercise would be beneficial to him, yet he can scarcely summon up fortitude enough to try it. In fact, he distrusts every remedy. Several of the above symptoms attend the disease, but cases have occurred where few of them existed, yet examination of the body, after death, has shown the LIVER to have been exten-

DR. C. McLane's LIVER PILLS, IN CASES OF AGUE AND FEVER, when taken with Quinine, are productive of the most happy results. No better cathartic can be used, preparatory to, or after taking Quinine. We would advise all who are afflicted with this disease to give them a PAIR TRIAL. For all bilious derangements, and as a simple purgative, they are unequaled.
